This app uses blueprint.js a free open source library blueprint-js that uses three.js another open source technology.

Right now, this company is fictitious, done for programming and design practise, in case I monetize the company and I start earning income from this, the following people will be recompensated with the following, I will send an email to the following people/entities offering them the following earnings

License	People	Percentage
MIT	Blueprint.js Developers	30% of all income
FAL 1.3	Sweet Home 3D Assets Modelers	30% of all income

Meaning if we get 1k a month:

Blueprint.js will get 300, Sweet Home 3D will get 300 and I, 400

Our business strategy will be shared with them once the company is making profit or even a real company in the first place

All intelectual property belongs to the developers and 3D Modelers, since they declared their license as the ones described in the table above, I'm not required to give the hypothetical income this company could generate, but I respect their work a lot and not offering for me it would be awful.

Every 3D Model has been formatted and converted to json, meaning all of them are low poly.

The bluepring.js has been slightly modified meaning

If any of them wants the modified files I won't have a problem with sending them back to you.
